Waste Materials Enriching Lives

A luncheon address

With

Paul Bulluss

Account Executive

Australians discard millions of electrical and electronic items of equipment per year yet not more than 5% are recycled. This is not only environmentally irresponsible; it is also wasteful.

Electronic Recycling Australia is an initiative of Minda Incorporated. Their goal is to deliver not just better environmental outcomes, but by providing services and sustainable employment to people living with a disability, Minda also enriches their lives through greater community participation.

Paul will tell us how their South Australia wide operation works and how you can help. Why not bring a friend to hear this compelling story?
